provided you will exchange than lot the money to-morrow if my man can't use them. The teller assented, remarking that he should of course have to make the customary charge for the accommodation.

"This being satisanctory to the cattle dealer, he was asked how he would have the certificates. He said that it made but little difference, but guessed that one for $5,000 and the other for $1,000 would answer all right. Accordingly, the certificates were made in that way and handed over to him. The next foremon, soon after the opening hour, our new customer put in appearance again, this time accompanied by a man who passed easily for a prosperous Western cattle raiser. After introducing his friend, he stated that the latter could not use the $5,000 certificate, as it was too large for him, but he could use the smaller one. They wanted, therefore, to get cash in exchange for the larger one.

"Our paying-teller asked for the certificate of deposit, which they produced. The teller scrutanized it carefully, and then counted out $5,000 and handed it over to the cattle dealer, who immediately passed it to his friend in liquidation of his indebtedness. They then departed, and we have seen nothing of them since. We thought nothing further of it until last Saturday, when a certificate of deposit for $5,000 turned up for payment. On comparing it with the records we found that we had already taken up one certificate for the same amount, bearing the same date and serial number. We began to investigate and soon found that we had been swindled by the two apparently unsophisticated cattle dealers. The $5,000 certificate which we had cashed for the two sharpers were placed beside the one which had been cashed first we found that thad been most beautifully "raised" or altered from $1,000 the amount for which we had drawn it, to $5,000 and it then dawned upon us that when we cashed the certificates for those two men that morning we in reality cashed it for $4,000 more than we had, originally drawn it for.

"Of course the sharpers had r

Miss Caldwell laughed and replied: "I have managed my fortune all along with success, and want to continue doing so."

The Prince still refusing to believe that she was serious, Miss Caldwell remarked: "You have shown that you do not know how to manage money."

The Prince thereupon became very angry, exclaiming: "Madame, I am not a beggar, and walked out of the room. The same evening the wife of the Prince's only son, who has all along opposed the marriage, not reliabing the idea of there being another Princess Murat besides herself, offered the Prince an assured allowance of $10,000 if he would remain single. Since then the rusture has become complete, and the abandonment of the match is officially announced.

Miss Caldwell has met the Prince several times while out walking and driving since the quarrel on Friday last, but on each occasion he has passed by without saying a single word or even raising his hat. Under the circumstances there is not the slightest chance of any reconciliation being effected or of the match ever taking place. Philadelphia, October 31.—In the session of the National Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches considerable time was devoted to papers of liberal Christian ministry. Dorman B. Eaton offered a resolution, which was referred to the Business Committee for action, declaring that the conference heartily approves the efforts now being made to induce the clergymen of the several religious denominations to make the moral issues and duties involved in our elections and public administration, irrespective of mere party interests, subjects of their discourses for "Thanksgiving Day," and has heard, with great satisfaction, of the large numbers of clergymen who have already expressed their purpose of so doing.

Another resolution, indersed unanimously, said that the conference regarded the education of candidates for the ministry as of the highest importance; expresses approval of the endowment of the James Freeman Clark professorship, recently made to the Theological School at Meadville; recommends that prompt responses in this direction be made, and that the Chair appoint a committee of five to urge this very important work.

Bosron, October 31.—The tenth annual convention of the Woman's Home Missionary Association was begun yesterday. Various reports were listened to by a large number of members. Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer presided. The report of the directors was given by the Secretary, Miss Nathalie Lord. During the ten years seventy teachers have been sent among the colored people in the South, and among the Mormons and Indians of the West; 9,000 children are in the day and Sunday-schools, and there have been expended $121,125. During the past year the association has helped to build three churches—one each in Lake Helen, Fls., Douglass; Wyo., and Pillsbury, Minn. The schools have progressed with an increasing interest on the part of the older people for the education of their children. The Southern schools report improvement. Thirty-three new auxiliaries have been added.

[He was the son of Governor Richard J. Manning, and was born in 1816. He was a student of Princeton when his father, then a member of Congress, died. Young Manning beturned to South Carolina and completed his education. He married a daughter of General Wade Hampton. He was an extensive planter of cotton in South Carolina and sugar in Louisiana. He was generally considered one of the wealthiest men in the South. In 1856 he was elected Governor of South Carolina. At the bombardment of Fort Sumter he was an Aide on the staff of Governor Pickens. At the first battle of Manassas he was an Aide to General Bureaguard. He was prominent in the provisional government after the war, and with Governor Perry was elected State Senator, but was refused his seat by the Republicans in 1876. LEBANON, October 31.—Twenty-two years ago John McQuown lived with his wife and six children in Jefferson Township, this county, but in August, 1867, he suddenly disappeared, and no tidings of him were ever received. Some years later Mrs. McQuown, supposing herself a widow, re-married, but her second husband lived but two years, and she was again left alone. Last week Mr. McQuown as unddenly and unceremoniously as marked his disappearance, returned to his home, but not, however, to claim his wife. Instead he demanded possession of the farm, and they are now living in the same house without resuming marital relations, and with no prospect of compromising their differences. A telegram from Columbus several days ago The Rumors of Disaster-Beaten Back in an Attempt to Reach Zanzibar-The Organization Sadly

London, October 31.—It is again announce d that we are to speedily receive important news concerning the Stanley expedition. The first week in November is now mentioned as to the date, and the people are waiting, with such patience and credulity as they may pos-sess, for the promised developments. The Belgian sources of information have been besieged in every possible manner, but both court and savans seem aggrieved of being suspected of possessing information which they are unwilling to communicate to the public. Even rumors of disaster to the expe-dition have failed to draw iorth a denial of their truth, and yet there is a widesurread feelthe report is now stated on good authority to be wholly unfounded, and has done injustice to a worthy young man.

Upon the death of Elisha Owings, Jr., near Jeffersonville, a few days ago, the widow caused a grave to be prepared on the family lot in the Jeffersonville Cemetery, but the father of the deceased interfered and carried the remains elsewhere. The widow is prepared to bring suit against her father-in-law, claiming $10,000 damages for the mortification to which she was subjected.

J. M. Studebaker, of South Bend, gave to the city certain land for park purposes, unaccompanied with conditions as to improvements thereon save that walks must be made, but the City Council, by a vote of four to six, declined the gift, ostensibly for fear of the expense which might be entailed upon the city in the future. Paralysis is a good word to illustrate the effect this refusal has had upon their constituents, and the Councilmen are receiving an access of information which will be valuable to their successors.

Sir W. Mackinnon, President of the British East African Company, and Mr. Mackenzie, the first administrator, might be expected from their nationality to be noncommittal, but press representatives, repulsed in their quest for information, naturally accuse them of evasion and even of open denial of news confidently stated to be in the possession of the company. The impression that Stanley has been beaten back in his attempt to reach Zanzibar by passing down the west shore of the Albert Nyanza, and that the Arab slave traders hold the key to the situation, is widely accepted. There is, unfortunately, little doubt that the organization is sadly demoralized and broken up into cliques, and that some of the reports that have been brought to the coast by runners have been of such a character that they are suppressed in the supposed interest of civilization.

If any of the white men of the expedition succeed in gaining the ear of the world their audiences will be amazed, but it is more probable from the stern expression of incidents that six known to have occurred, that only inklings of the truth in regard to an expedition which, since its inception, has attracted such unprecedented interest, will ever be made known outside of special circles. boards with reference to the new election law. volver. The man in the mirror did likewise, and in a moment the pair were blazing way at each other with a precision that was hard on the mirror. Mr. High and family were at dinner on the floor below, and when the shooting was heard, together with the noise of breaking glass, there was a sudden loss of appetite on the part of everyone at the table. Mr. High grabbed a poker and headed a procession up the stairway, and when the large rear bedroom on the second floor was reached nothing was found but the broken mirror and an open window.

By this time the whole neighborhood—one of the most flashionable on the North Side—was in an uproar. Private telephones were set at work, and the East Chicago Avenue Station patrol wagon, with a load of officers, was summoned. The arrival of the police added to the excitement, and there were rumors that a double murder had been committed.

An investigation showed that some one had placed a ladder against the rear wall of Mr. High's house and had effected an entrance by forcing the window. The room door was open, and the light from the hall fell upon the mirror in such a way as to give the impression that some one was approaching through the door. The burylar, for such the intruder must have been, was a desperare character, and it was not his shall that he did not commit murder. He probably thinks that one, and perhape both of the shots he fired took effect in the body of the person he supposed he shot at.

The advance guard of the delegates to the All-American Congress has arrived in the person of Wm. W. Lord, Jr., of Philadelphis. Mr. Lord reached the city from Springfield (Ill.) this morning at a o'clock. Since the Congress started on its tour of 5,825 miles he has kept one day sheed of it for the purpose of seeing that the details of the arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates are all properly arranged. This forence has a conference with George G. Tanner, President of the Board of Trade and Chairman of the Reception Committee. The program for to-morrow was canvassed, and Mr. Lord expressed himself as well pleased with all the arrangements made for the entertainment of the Congress.

Mr. Lord, like all of those in charge of the Congress, with the exception of Wm. E. Cartis, is not in the employ of the Government, but the Pennsylvania Railway Company. "Very few people understand how this tour is managed," said he to a News reporter. "Its entire management is entrasted to the pesonally conducted tourists' system of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, whose employes, of course, are subject to any orders Mr. William E. Curtis, the agent of the State Department, may give. The representatives of the tourists' system pay all bills that are contracted, and the railroad company will be reimbursed by the Government, Of course, there are few bills to be paid. As the delegates are guests of the cities they visit their expenses are nearly all paid by the citizens." Mr. Lord says the tourists have not tired of their trip, as has been stated. On the other hand, they have been delighted with the entire tour. The trip, be thinks will not be barren of results. The South American gentlemen have met with surprise after surprise, and will return home with entirely new ideas of the commercial greatness of North America.

It is the program for the visitors to arrive in Indianapolis at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning.

It is asserted by the San Francisco Call, which is very unhappy over the policy of the administration on Chinese immigration, that the bond of $200 required, under etary Windom's ruling, as guarantee that any Chinese laborer permitted to land country will be transported beyoud the boundaries of the United States, really no barrier to the admission Chinamen, and there are but one or two instances on record where the bond has been collected by habeas corpus pro cess. It is also asserted that the bond riving is but a matter of form, and the bondsmen are usually men of straw. It is believed that bonds for appearance in court would be of more value than bond for departure, as the parties would then become subject to the courts and could be more severely dealt with.

There is a good deal of human nature in the Mongolian, and it makes him as good a soldier as anybody when he has a fair chance. Grant said that Li Hung was one of the two or ablest men he met in the three ablest men he met in the entire circuit of the globe. It would be no very fair deduction of a more average measure of wisdom to conclude that a people who could produce a stateman like Li Hung Chang, would have sense enough to discuss a wrong done them and spirit enough to resist it; and if they retalist against the United States in the way of diverting trade and excluding our citizens, there need he no surprise.

In 1885 New Hampshire pasted an act governing insurance companies, known as the valued policy act." It denied companies the right to remove actions from the State to federal courts, declared compacts and arguments concerning rates unavital, prohibited forfeiture clauses in policies and fixed the amount expressed in the policy as the measure of damages to case of the total destruction of property.

passage, and the insurance companies withdrew their business, declaring they would not take a risk in the State while the law was in force. But this had ne effect. Local companies seem to have been able to do the work, at any rate the law stands just as i passed. The experience of the period has demonstrated its benefit, for it is claimed that there have been fewer fires than in any previous four years, and that in case of losses the policies have not been scaled. Be that as it may, the withdrawing companies are reconsidering their determine tion. Several of them, headed by the intend to enter New Hampshire after this year. The ground on which the Ætna bases its return is that it is already doing busi ness in other States under all the prohibitions and restrictions in force in New ests. A profit is to be had out of insur ance in New Hampshire on the prescribed conditions, and there is ne good reason, it is held, for foregoing it langer. Noting this the Baltimore Sun says that the significance of this conclusion of the matter is very great. Other States may be expected, in view of this demonstration of the possibility of fire insurance profits under wholesome restrictions, to pass laws looking to the protection of their people. As the companies have deliberately accepted the principle of the valued policy in New Hampshire, they may be reasonsbly expected to accept it elsewhere. Our Relations with Spanish America The representatives of Spanish America, who have reached the end of their jourturning East, have evidently been very favorably impressed with their observa-tions and the cordial hospitality with which they have been received in the different cities that they have visited. Some indication of what may be the results of their acquaintance with our people, resources and products, if proper endeavors are made to sustain more intimate commercial relations with their countries, is given in the interviews yesterday at Kansas City, which were nore definite in suggestions and promises than any of the kindly-disposed public expressions heretofore reported. The remarks of delegate Henderson, in speaking in behalf of our own country, were not only strongly expressive of the greatest measure of good feeling, which must quite naturally find responsiveness from people so susceptible and ardent as our warmblooded neighbors of the south countries, but they outline happily some of the things that may result from the proceedings of the Congress, such as the construction of railroads which will open direct connection with the vast region lying beyond Mexico, the enlargement and improvement of water transporation facilities, and and measures, all of which will surely be very helpful in bringing about the more intimate relations that are desired. Still, it will not accomplish all that is desired. The commercial people of the United States must learn to adapt themselves, as do manufacturers and merchants of other countries, to the trade methods of the South Americans, and to supply them, as sharp competition will make it necessary for them to do, upon a reciprocal

The decline of their trade with us has been stated to be due very largely to the fact that our manufacturers have ignored their orders or have raised prices whenever their products could be disposed of in the home market at protection prices, in addition to which our terms have not been in accordance with their commercial customs, and our methods of shipment have been so careless as to cause large losses. All of these things must be overcome, and American manufacturers must learn to be patient and persistent in developing the new market, or the work of the congress, which now promises so well, will result in possibly

On November 26 the Supreme Court of the State will hear a case which may bring into question the validity of the mine legislation of 1887 and 1880. The appellees in the suit are Edward Hansock and Harry Conkle, and the appellant William P. Yaden. The suit was originally brought by Yaden, a miner, to collect money due for labor in accordance with the provisions of the two weeks' pay law.

The New York Stock Market.

[Special to The Indianapolis News.]

NEW YORK, October 2l, 1l a, m.—The stock market was quiet this morning and remains of the feverishness of yesterday appeared in the early dealings, though the tendency at first was generally downward with some recovery later in the hour. The opening was made generally at small fractional decilines from last evening's figures, New England being down % per cent. There was little activity in the regular list, but St. Panl, Reading, Northern Pacific and Union Pacific led in the dealings, while their fuectations were confined to the smallest fractions, as rule. The trusts were active, however, and marked weakeness at 0.0 dt. net loss from last ovening of 1½ per cent., in which the others did not sympathies to any marked extent, though they were feverish and irregular. The only important movement in the regular list was the extraordinary advance in Tennessee Coal, which, after opening unchanged at 56, rose to 59%. There was a better tone throughout the list later in the hour, and at ill o'clock the market was quiet and firm to strong at small fractions better than the opening prices.

hour, and at il o'clock the market was quiet and firm to strong at small fractions better than the opening prices.

Money is tight at 2 per cent. Bar silver 1946. In the stock market after il o'clock there was considerable activity in spots, with a continuance of the upward tendency which hade turther silpint advances in the early part of the hour. Union Pacific again touched so an active irading, and Denver, Texas and T. Worth Eld, a net gain of 5 per cent. Later, however, marked weakness again appeared in the Trusts and Cotton Oil retired to below 40 and Sugar below 70, while the general list shaded off slowly. At about the market was quiet and heavy, generally actions to the opening prices.

IT IS THE SILVER AGE.

The present may be called the silver age, From the old-time jancy for plate spoons, insies and jorks, the taste has grown unrit there is a demand for almost everything that can be contrived out of the beautiful metal. It is softer than gold and more easily worked, and it admits of more artistic treatment in carving or chasing. It is not so costly, and there is hardly anything in it for use or ornnament that you can not get. We are receiving daily new invoices. Call and select your holiday present now.

ELECTRICITY FOR STREET CARS.

otrician Pyle Shows It is Com monly Used and Very Profitable.

corge C. Pyle, of this city, Manager of the George C. Pyle, of this city, Manager of the National Headlight Company, has given the electric street railway question some thought. He says that at the close of 1885 there was but one electric line in the United States. Now there are 179 lines in 127 towns and cities operating 1,884 cars, 1,260 miles of travel. Boston has 230 miles of electric road, 300 cars. Cleveland 25 miles single and 12 miles double there are 179 lines in 127 towns and cities operating 1,884 cars, 1,280 miles of travel. Boston has 230 miles of electric road, 300 cara. Cleveland 38 miles af electric road, 300 cara. Cleveland 38 miles of electric road, 300 cara. Cleveland 38 miles of electric road, 300 cara. Des Moines 7 miles, 2 cars. Decatur 7 miles, 9 cars. Des Moines 7 miles, 8 cars. The latter carried 90,000 people in one week. Detroit 16 miles, 15 cars, speed 18 miles per hour. Lafayette 5 miles, 13 cars. Newton, Mass., 8 miles, 15 cars, speed 18 miles per hour. Lafayette 5 miles, 13 cars. Newton, Mass., 8 miles, 10 cars. costs to operate 5 to 6 cents per car mile. Reading (Pa.) says its cars cost 9 2-3 cents per car mile to operate. Rochester 13.5 miles, 16 cars, 2½ cents average cost per car mile. Salt Lake 5.5 miles, 10 cars. St. Joseph 21 miles, 30 cars. Topeks 20 miles, 30 cars; costs 2.06 cents per car mile.

"The average number of miles that an electric car should make under favorable circumstances is at least 120 miles per day of eighteen hours," says he "which is 50 per cent. in excess of what we can get from horses."

Mr. Pyle thinks the most notable thing in the electric world in the year past was the resolution of the Board of Directors of the Consolidated roads of Boston to equip their whole system with overhead wire.

"A portion of this system" Mr. Pyle says, "has aiready been equipped and from the statement of President Whitney on the Cambridge Division" there has been at least 150 per cent. Increase in traffic, with 50 per cent. decrease in operating expenses, giving us at least a net pain of 200 per cent. "Dr. A. Everett, President East Cleveland Street Railway Association held at Minnespolis, October 16, 1899, and I see Mr. Shaffer was there, that they were operating thirty cars to their full satisfaction, their traffic has increased 15 per cent. and that 1,200 horses were supplanted by an engine of 335 horse power. Dr. W. L. Allen, of Davenport, Ia., at the same meeting said the earnings on his road have increased 80 same?"

Mr. Pyle thinks there is no doubt involved; that electric street car lines are proven by the members of the association to which Mr. Shaffer belongs to be not only practical, but immensely economical and productive of a large increase of business.

LET US REMAIN CHILD-LIKE.

Simple and Effective Moral Le Taught by Mr. Murphy.

The wet weather kept many away from the Murphy meeting last night. The audience, however, was only comparatively small. Mr. Murphy did not make a speech to those present, but rather conducted a moral conversation on various popular subjects, chiefly on ton on various popular subjects, chiefly on temperance.

To the young ladies present he gave some advice in regard to high-heeled and pinching shoes and sundry dress appliances, the wear-ing of which, he said, was merely another form of intemperance.

He asked the parents to sign the pledge with

He asked the parents to sign the pledge with their children and rear temperance boys. He advised the fathers to entertain their boys at home, and learn to play little games with the children. "We can't talk God and heaven all the time. People get tired of it." He related some of his own painful experiences as a youth, when his mother kept him indoors all day on bright, cheerful Sundays, when the birds were singing outside. Some little boys in the front seats could mot control their shrill mirth at Mr. Murphy's striking reminisences. "Let us be kind to our children," he continued, "and enter into their lives. We want to remain children. That's all we are, children of a larger growth. If you don't take care of your children others will. There are men right around this church who will entertain them."

C. E. Reynolds. President of the Gospel

men right around this church who will entertain them."

C. E. Reynolds, President of the Gospel Temperance League, was brought forward. He told how that organization, which gives ay mpathy and friendship to its members, had proved bractical in its burposes and grown to comprise 400 members, 90 per cent. of whom had been drinking men.

"Ras" Everson said he felt very sad to think that after keeping the pledge ten months he had slipped and fallen. Through all his wanderings, however, he had felt the influences of the League about him, giving him words of good cheet. Asking forgiveness, he promised to make a sturdy, upgrade fight against further temptation.

Dr. W. H. Wishard made an effective speech, recalling many striking incidents in his long experience, showing the effects of drink. He was the first man in Johnson County to join the Washingtonian movement. He had kept the pledge fifty years.

Frank M. Hay told some interesting things about saloon-keepers giving rooms free for the use of building associations and as places for contractors to pay off their men, and showed the bad effects of their generosity. He favored a more liberal spirit in the same directions on the part of other business men.

The number of pledge-signers last night was lave.

the nart of other business men.

The number of pledge-signers last night was large. The meetings will continue in the Seventh Presbyterian Church. Saturday night a meeting for men and boys only will be held.

MR. POTTS'S HOUSE DESTROYED. Sad Ruin Wrought by Fire in Wood ruff Place-The Losses.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Potts, of Woodrufi Place, last night lost by fire their beautiful new house. It was completed only yesterday, and the household goods had been moved in new nouse. It was completed only yesterday, and the household goods had been moved in but had not yet been unpacked. About midnight a colored boy who slept in the house was awakened by the furious barking of the dogs who were running about the house. He found the house full of smoke, coming apparently from the vicinity of the furnace. He gave the alarm in Woodruff. The neighbors assembled and struggled with the fire. Meantime the city department was called by telephone, but it worked at a disadvantage because water was not easily accessible.

The house was destroyed and much of the contents, though neighbors saved as much as possible. The building cost $5,500, and was insured for $5,500. There was an insurance of $700 on the furniture.

The money cost does not represent the value of the premises. Mr. and Mrs. Potts have given a year to the completion of their home. Its rooms were decorated by Mrs. Potts, who is a connoisseur. She carves artistically, and the new home bore many evidences of her skill. All this, of course, is lost. The stucced front wall and parts of the frame rear of the house alone remain.

Is There No Place for Rim?

The police have an eiephant on their hands in the person of the crazy actor, Frank Larranga. A commission of lunacy declared him insane yesterday, but the authorities at the asylum will not accept him, as he is a non-resident. The Station House is no place for him, and Superintendent Travis threatens to turn him out on the streets. If he does that, Larranga is hable to damage some one.

HALLOWEEN-OCTOBER 31

Or All Hallow's Eve, is a relic of pagan times. It is the eve of "All Saints" Day, and there is nothing in the observance of All Saints Day (created by the Christian church) to have originated the practices of Halloween, which are more remarkable than any observance, perhaps. It is a time of pranks and mischief. In England a multitude of customs. One is to wet a shirt sleeve and hang it by the fire to dry an be in bed and watch it till midnight, when the form of the one you are to marry will come in and turn the sleeve. Burns thus describes it:

The last Halloween I was wauken' My droukit saek-sleeve as ye ken;
His likeness cam' up the house stantan' And the very gray breeks o' Tom Glen!

WE'VE GOT 'EM Gray breeks and all colors; all sizes, kinds and prices, too. Same as to full suits and overcoats. Likewise as to furnishings. So also as to hats. While for furs-laddes, see 'em. More furs than any-body.
